'Stunning effort' as appeal hits £30,000

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

KIND-HEARTED Weekly News readers have pushed our St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal over the £30,000 mark in just nine months – three-quarters of the way towards the target of £40,000.

Staff at the St Nicholas Hospice shop in Haverhill's High Street celebrated the news this week.

Ian Norris, fundraiser for the hospice, said: "I think it is stunning that we have got there in such a relatively short period of time.

"All sorts of people have come out and done things for us and have been incredibly generous. Hopefully they will continue to do so to enable us to reach our target."

The Weekly News launched the appeal in February to raise the £40,000 needed to provide hospice care services for patients in and around Haverhill area in their own home, rather than travelling to the Bury St Edmunds hospice.

It attracted strong support from the start, with the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce donating the £1,700 raised at its first business awards event.

Since then, numerous groups and individuals have come forward with donations, large and small, including a bumper £4,000 cheque from the Haverhill Charity Golf Classic, which saw the appeal hit the £20,000 mark at the end of Wickhambrook's Charity Fundraisers have already raised close to £2,000 for the appeal, with more to come from their New Year's Eve Dance, a charity rock concert raised £650 and West End Congregational Church handed over £300, with more cash set to come from its Christmas events. Haverhill Sinfonia, Sainsbury's staff, Haverhill Ladies Circle, Brownies and many others have also helped boost the total.

boost the total.

Photographer George Impey's stunning images of Haverhill have been reproduced in the Haverhill at Home calendar, with its production costs sponsored by local companies so that every penny of the £6.95 price tag goes into our appeal. The calendars are on sale at the hospice shop, Weekly News offices in Queen Street, Suffolk Insurance, Specialized Print and the Haverhill Arts Centre.

Jean Ager, who has worked in the hospice shop for the past year said: "I think it is great. I look in the paper every week to see how much more has been raised."

Weekly News editor Nigel

Brookes said: "We have been so impressed by the overwhelming generosity of our readers. To have hit the £30,000 mark in just nine months is incredible.
"This is obviously a cause that is

"This is obviously a cause that is close to many people's hearts and we now need one final push to raise the last £10,000.

"We recognise in this current economic climate that times are tough. But even the smallest donation can make a huge difference to so many patients in Haverhill and surroundling areas who rely on the hospice."

ROSE Felloni's adventurous spirit knows no bounds.

In the past, the 61-year-old grandmother has walked on hot coals, jumped from one plane and wing-walked on another, all in the name of charity

But it was through more sedate means of selling home-made boxes and bags that she was able to raise money for the Weekly News St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal.

The money will go towards our campaign to raise £40,000, which will fund in-home hospice services for patients in and around Haverhill, saving them the journey to the hospice in Bury St Edmunds

She handed over £550 to the Some named over 2550 to the hospice's local fundraiser, Ian Norris, and promised there would be more to come. Future fundraising plans include another wing walk – this time with the plane rolling over with the plane rolling over.

Over the years, Rose has raised thousands of pounds for St Nicholas Hospice and the Prader-Willi Syndrome Society.

Rose, of Sorrel Walk, Haverhill, had cared for her daughter Deena, 38, who suffered from the condition and died three years ago. The rare genetic illness results in the brain not telling the body to stop eating and sufferers literally eat themselves to death.

Rose, who has 12 grandchildren and one great granddaught-er, handed over £480 to the society earlier this year and another £150 after completing the 5k Adidas Challenge in Hyde Park.

She said she was happy to support the Hospice at Home had shown her the need for more help for people in their own homes

She said: "It is something that needs to be addressed.

"I looked after Deena for 38 years and the last five and a half months were hell on earth. She was not easy to help and it was isolating.

"I think with more community care we could also give people who are carers time for which would have helped me a lot."

She added: "I enjoy doing the fundraising I do. I have been a bit boring lately really, but I would like to do another wing-walk. If someone would sponsor me I could help you reach your £40,000 target."

Ian said: "We really rely on people like Rose who just keep on raising more money for us.

"We are very grateful to her, she is a real star."

Pair jailed over thefts from cars

TWO Lithuanian men from Peterborough have been jailed for eight months after being caught stealing stereos and satellite navigation systems in Haverhill.

Tomas Rudys and Silvestas Jackevious, both aged 29, each admitted five charges of thefts from vehicles and asked for 10 more to be taken into consideration when they appeared at Ipswich Crown

The court was told that two officers on patrol in Haycocks Road, Haverhill, just before 4am on August 14 had picked up the pair carrying bags full of car stereos and sat navs. They admitted taking all the items in a 10-day spree of thefts in the town up to the time when they were arrested.

'Grenade' on site

A BUILDING site in Haverhill was sealed off after workers dug up what they believed to be a hand grenade.

Residents living in the Chapelwent Road area of the town were advised to stay in their homes while the bomb squad was called to examine the find at around 11.30am last Wednesday morning.

It was discovered that the find was in fact a training device, which presented no danger to the public and was taken away by bomb squad officers by

Thieves raid van

POWER tools and a satellite navigation system were stolen by thieves who broke into a blue LDV Maxus van while it was parked in Haverhill.

The theft happened at Calford Drive between 8pm last Thursday and 10pm on Saturday.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Richard Oldroyd at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Purse pinched

A PURSE was stolen from a woman's handbag as she shopped in a store in Haverhill

The theft happened in the High Street between 10.30am and 10.45am.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Ian Davies at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Christmas Day invite to 'lonely people'

A NEW Salvation Army
Captain is looking forward to spending his first Christmas Day with lonely people in the town where he is based who would otherwise be alone.
Jonathan Wylie took over at the helm of the Haverhill Church in Chauntry Road in August and is keeping up its tradition of hosting a Christmas Day celebration
there

Up to 50 places will be available on a first come, first served basis, and 20 of these have already been snapped up. People wanting to attend need to contact Mr Wylie as soon as possible and he will also need 10 volunteers, especially anyone with nursing experience who has already been police checked.

On Saturday, November 29, a table sale will be held at the church hall from 10.30am to noon to raise funds and anyone interested in running a table for £6 should ring

(01440) 706743 in advance. Mr Wylie said: "It is for those who are otherwise going to be lonely, which we don't want at any time of year, but especially not on Christmas Day. We will have a 30 minute service, games, lunch and more games and the Queen's Speech, then they will be sent home with a goodle bag for tea. Places are going fast and people should get in touch as soon as possible if they want to join us."

Mr Wylie took over from Stuart and Paula Ashman, who had been in the town for eight years, after previously serving in Norwich and Manchester. The 28 year old, who is one of the Army's youngest captains, halls from Newry in Northern Ireland and said he grew up with the Salvation Army until he left home at the age of 24.

He said: "I believed it was God's will for my life to be a full time mission. It is certainly difficult and challenging at times, but also definitely rewarding. "I had never been here before, but I did come for the day to meet Stuart and Paula before they left. "The people here have been brilliant, the congregation is very warm and welcoming." Anyone who wants to attend or help as a volunteer should ring (01440) 705247 and leave their contact details on the answerphone.

Special needs unit 'unlikely' for town

A TOWN councillor is campaigning for special needs school provisions in Haverhill.

Patrick Hanlon raised the issue with Haverhill Town Council and four members of Suffolk County Council's special needs team, including Sandy Ranson, senior advisor for inclusion and additional needs, and Tony Sale, area manager.

Cllr Hanlon said: "I am campaigning for a greatly needed special needs school in Haverhill to cater for children that are classed as high functioning – those of mainstream ability but still have specific learning difficulties

"Smaller towns like Newmarket, Sudbury and Mildenhall all have special needs units and I cannot BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.ul understand why Haverhill has not got one. We really need one as there are a lot of children in mainstream school who should not be.

"Currently there is no 'in-county' specialist provision to support children and young people with social, emotional and behaviour difficulties. The parents of these young people also need support.

"In 2007/08, the council spent £2.46 million to fund 59 out-of-county education placements. The money could be better spent to help more people to be better educated in this county.

The education officers at the meeting said 21 pupils were currently being transported out of the county to specialist centres. They promised to report back on the total number of children in Haverhill with special educational needs.

But they did not think a specialist unit would be on the cards for Haverhill as there would need to be 50 pupils with the same type of special needs for a unit to be a viable option.

Ms Ranson told town councillors that courses to deal with various special needs were available for teachers and teaching aids, but it was up to schools to decided whether they took places up.

If parents were not satisfied with special needs provision made for their child they should formally complain to the headteacher and the chairman of governors at the school.

Bridging the religious divide . . . on a bike!

WRITER, GP, mother of six and all-round super woman Mary Selby has returned from a gruelling 500-mile cycle ride from Cairo to Jerusalem.

Dr Selby, 46, who practices in Haverhill, was one of 26 people taking part in the 13-day trip. It was organised by the Woolf Institute in Cambridge and united Jews, Muslims and United Jews, Muslims, Muslims,

"I only fell off twice – one involved car and an exciting amount of blood but I was perfectly OK. We all set out and we all made it.

potential kidnap threat and we did have armed escorts in place, but we had no trouble. It was really good to be able to talk to people about our beliefs and discover that they are often not that different.

"On the way we slept on a beach, climbed Mt Sinal, swum in the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba, shared a huge Bedouin tent, been pursued by men making bread, tracked by Egyptian chinooks, raced through the Negov desert in a blue light Israeli critical care vehicle with an injured cyclist, seen shooting stars, sunsets, sunrises, the glorious colour of the Sinal Desert, the beautiful terrain of the Negev, crusader castles and, finally, the Western Wall in Jerusalem."

Dr Selby, who still has five of her six children living at her home in Great Wratting, along with fellow-GP husband Neville, has almost completed her seventh novel which, coincidentally, is about Jews and Christians in Bury St Edmunds.

She has previously completed other sponsored treks and climbs in far off places such as the Himalavas.

investment. Castle Manor students Josie Crooks and Terry Collard won the shield for best pitch after they produced a flawless presentation of a well-researched business idea, and demonstrated great ability to answer questions with confidence.

County Upper School students Bethany Pepper and Scarlett Ward won the shield for most innovative idea. Fair Trade chocolate and certificates were given out to everyone who took part in the event, including the Dragons.

A spokesman for the school said: "Everyone who took part in this event really enjoyed themselves. The dragons were amazed by the quality and innovation of the ideas that the students produced.

"The Co-operative was pleased to sponsor the event and looks forward to helping the school host more ethicallybased events in the future."

New bus shelters go in TEMPORARY new bus shelters will be installed at Haverhill bus station to protect passengers from the winter weather.

The station was due to get a revamp when the Jubilee Walk area was refurbished by St Edmundsbury Borough Council earlier this year, but Suffolk County Council has put back the work until next year.

The area has been criticised for giving visitors a poor first impression of the town because of its poor state and also for its lack of adequate shelter for passengers.

Work to remove the existing shelters will begin on Monday and one large shelter will be made from recycled materials from the old structures. Three smaller shelters will also be added.

Existing shelters at the site are in a poor condition and, because of their age, would be expensive to repair. The new shelters will be maintained by external contractors.

The work should take around five days to complete and the shelters will be provided on a temporary basis until permanent structures are put into place next year.

Security warning as thefts increase

HAVERHILL residents are being urged to tighten up security at their homes and keep a closer eye on their possessions when out and about after a sharp rise in burglaries, thefts from cars and purse snatches.

Pc Rupert Beynon, of the town police force's Safer Neighbourhood Team, said there had been a rise in the number of offences in the early hours of the morning, as well as between 3pm and 4.30pm, when parents were out collecting children from school and homes were often in darkness before they arrived back.

Pc Beynon said: "It is a big problem at the moment and we are making it a priority. BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"We need information to help us tackle it and people need to look after each other's properties.

"If anyone is interested in setting up Neighbourhood Watch we would happy to help them. If burglars see lots of signs up, they go elsewhere." He added: "Now it gets dark

He added: "Now it gets dark earlier it becomes obvious in which houses there is no-one home and these people smash their way in by forcing a door or window, take high value items like jewellery and they are gone.

"Leaving lights on or setting them to come on with a timer can really make a difference."

Christmas presents are also a target for thieves and Pc Will Wright is offering a service for people to get their valuables photographed so that they have a better chance of being recovered.

Several purse thefts have also been reported, with the victims often elderly women. A simple device, such as a cat bell, can be picked up from Haverhill police station or the Weekly News office and attached to purses, so the noise alerts the owner if anyone touches their purse.

Shoppers are also reminded to keep bags on their shoulder and not to leave handbags on their shopping trolley.

Police officers can offer advice on personal and home security and measures which can help, such as more secure locks for doors and windows and additional lighting.

Thanks for support

Sir, Haverhill Silver Band would like to thank everyone who supported their charity concert at the Haverhill Arts Centre last Sunday. Featuring David Thornton, worldrenowned euphoniumist with the Black Dyke Band, the evening attracted a nearcapacity audience.

This support, coupled with support from the town council and hand CD sales will enable the band to send a cheque for £1,000 to the Barnardo's Brass Appeal.

Silver sounds of the season

AN AWARD-WINNING band is launching a new celebration of festive music fun with a family Christmas concert.

The event is a new venture for Haverhill Silver Band and will be held on Sunday, December 7 at 4pm at Haverhill Arts Centre.

The concert will feature Haverhill Silver and the Youth and Community bands playing separately, but they will unite for some tunes.

The light concert will include audience participation, with the help of host for the afternoon, pantomime impressario, Nick Keeble.

Admission has also been geared towards families with all adult tickets at £5 and under 16s only £2, available from the box office on (01440) 714140.

Teen on arson charge

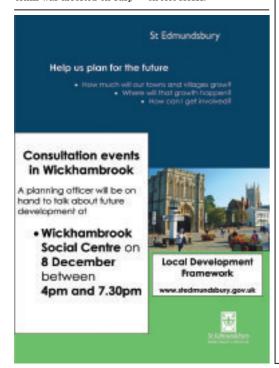

A TEENAGER has been arrested following two attempted arson attacks in Haverhill on Saturday night.

Two cars were damaged in Clarendon Road at around 9.35pm, after bottles of flammable liquid were set alight underneath them.

The 17-year-old from Hav-erhill was arrested on suspicion of attempted arson and he has been released on police bail to return to Haverhill police station on December 14.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Ben Vann at Haverhill police (01284) 774100, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Passing on the torch to the next GB Olympians

THE heady days of the Beijing Olympics have passed and thoughts have turned to training programmes for 2012 when London hosts the world's greatest sporting spectacle.

And a new programme launched by Living Sport could help find potential gold medal stars.

It aims to enable 9,000 more young people in Cambridgeshire to choose from a vast range of traditional and non-traditional sports, from basketball and football to netball and dance.

The three-year programme will get £325,750 in funding. It offers young people 10week, high-quality taster sessions in sports of their choice. The aim then is to get one-third of participants to join clubs and continue with their chosen sport.

Lee Dolby, sports development manager for Living Sport, said: "This is a great opportunity for youth and community groups to gain real support and help them deliver activities young people in Cambridgeshire have been waiting for.

"We are keen to work with any organisation that has capacity and ability to provide young people with positive sporting opportun-ities that will encourage them to make the change to a sportier lifestyle.

Huntingdon Olympic Gymnastics Club was in the spotlight in August when Louis Smith won the pommel horse bronze medal, the first British gymnast to win an individual Olympic medal since 1912.

Daniel Keatings also showed he was in the top rank, reaching the final of the men's all-around competition in Beijing.

The club's mission is to create a state-of-the-art gymnastics facility to prepare athletes for the 2012 Olympic Games and beyond. But it provides opportunities for all members of the comm-unity to benefit from gymnastics and other sports at every level.

It is looking to expand its buildings – the club says it could open all day, every day and still not satisfy the demand from local residents and others on the waiting

Paul Hall, head coach, Paul Hall, head coach, said: "Any funding is welcome. We are looking for capital funding for our building programme and revenue funding to staff it. Living Support is already supporting us."

But with thoughts turning

But with thoughts turning to the bill for staging the 2012 Games, he said: "Everybody is tightening their belts and we have not felt the full effects yet. We would hope the Government will look favourably at us after the success of Louis and Dan-iel."

Barry Wallman, president of the Cambridge and Coleridge Athletic Club, said it was vital to invest in sports at club level for youngsters.

He said: "The more money that goes into grassroots level sport, the better. All athletes start from this level and move upwards.

"I'm all for encouraging young people into my own sport and other sports. With the 2012 Olympics, people should look at how to encourage sport even more."

Neil Costello, club chair-man, said it was working closely with Living Sport to promote a community sports network. He said: "That has been incredibly valuable to the club.

"We have 538 members and of those, 300 are under 17. We are very much into participation and supporting youngsters and are the Junior Club of the Year for the Eastern region."

Living Sport is part of Sport Unlimited, a £36 million national programme funded by Sport England. It aims to get more children and young people taking part in sports outside school.

Steve Grainger, chief executive of the Youth Sport Trust, said: "The Youth Sport Trust welcomes this new initiative, which plays an extremely important role in encouraging more young people into sport.

"It builds on the vital work that is already taking place in school and community sport to get youngsters more active and engaged in a range of sporting act-

Pupils find the time to care...

PUPILS have been finding out more about the work of their local hospice and raising money for it at the same time.

Children from Westfield Primary School, in Haverhill, have been hard at work raising funds for St Nicholas Hospice and studying what the hospice does.

Instead of simply asking schools to fund-raise, staff at the hospice have worked closely with teachers to create tasks which fit into and complement the national curriculum under the banner of Find the Time.

This is the first time St Nicholas Hospice has tried such a campaign with schools, and it is now being rolled out across 20 schools in West Suffolk and ThetBY Jo Deeks ford. Each school is sent a range of activity packs, which children are sponsored to complete.

Children at Westfield School have been busy drawing hands on clock faces and matching months to seasons, as well as learning about the work of the hospice.

Deputy headteacher Jill Lightfoot said: "We love to be involved in helping others – part of Westfield's ethos is to teach children to help other people.

"The children really took to this task and did their best – and their parents have been as supportive as ever. The whole project has been for a great cause, very easy for the teachers to administer and tremendous fun for the children."

As part of the initiative, St Nicholas Hospice fundraiser Ian Norris visited the school to talk about what the hospice does.

The fundraising campaign was brought to life following a partnership between the hospice and housing provider Havebury Housing, which paid for the design and printing of the activity packs.

It is hoped that the Find the Time campaign could raise up to £30,000 for St Nicholas Hospice. Any schools interested in taking part can contact fundraising manager Michelle Gray on (01284) 747611.

St Nicholas Hospice has to raise £10,000 a day in order to continue running.

Tighter rules soon as speeding soars

HE Cambridgeshire police force has been conducting a thorough crackdown on speeding motorists.

Now we could see drivers caught going more than 20mph over the speed limit losing their licence after just two offences under Government proposals published last week.

The announcement comes as the numbers caught and fined by police officers in the county leaped six-fold in four years

In 2004 officers dished out 505 speeding fines – but last year it leaped to 3,260. More

As the Government gears up to get tough on speeding motorists, we can reveal the numbers of drivers caught flouting the law in Cambridgeshire has rocketed. RAYMOND BROWN reports.

1,700 speeding motorists were caught by patrolling police in 2005 and the following year it again leaped, to 2,195 – according to figures obtained under the Freedom of Information Act.

And it looks like the numbers are on course to hit last year's total with 2,084 speeding offences recorded by officers in the first nine months of this year.

Speed cameras in the county caught 16,078 motorists flouting the law from July to December 2006. The following year that figure hit 29,535 and in the first nine months of this year has topped 16,812.

The number of motorists caught going through a red light has also increased. In 2004 just 55 were fined, rising to 156 the following year – in 2006 that figure leaped to 244 but fell to 224 the next year. However, in the first nine months of this year, 209 motorists have been caught going through a red

Last year 87 people lost their lives on the county's roads. So far this year the number is 48.

MP Jim Paice, who has campaigned for more safety measures on the "killer" A1307, broadly welcomed the move to get tough on speeding motorists but believes that is only part of the solution to save lives

He said: "I am not against tougher penalties for speeding in principle and doing more than 20 miles over the speed limit is bad in anybody's book.

"But at the summit on the A1307 I organised with police they said that only two of the fatalities were caused by excess speed and the rest was down to dangerous driving.

"Speeding is part of the problem and I welcome that Cambridgeshire police are doing a lot of work on that but it is only part of the problem.

"We have seen a reduction in deaths on our roads but even 48 is still too many."

Cambridgeshire Chief Constable Julie Spence has already gone on the record saying that bad driving was to blame, not danger roads, and took a swipe at anti-speed camera protesters, saying the devices are proven life savers.

She said: "Tens of thousands of pounds are invested in safety devices. Yet the collisions keep on happening and families keep being torn apart by the tragic news of death or crippling injury—at the same time, bizarrely, as the anti-safety camera lobby keep complaining about speeding motorists being taxed.

"I would hope they'd heed the signs of success on the A14 between Cambridge and Huntingdon, where the average speed cameras have cut the number of serious and fatal collisions by more than 80 per cent."

Ministers will also consider pleas from road safety campaigners to reduce the amount of alcohol permitted for drivers as part of a three-month consultation on improving road safety.

Road Safety Minister Jim Fitzpatrick said the measures were aimed at reducing the 2,946 deaths and 30,000 serious injuries on Britain's roads last year. He said: "Notwithstanding

He said: "Notwithstanding these are the best figures we have ever had, we know that we can do more and we can reduce the numbers of people being killed and seriously injured.

"That means looking at speeding,drink-driving, drug driving, careless driving and people not wearing seatbelts."

Speed is a factor in 29 percent of all road deaths, according to the minister, while 20 per cent are caused by drivers with illegal drugs in their bloodstream.

Those caught over the speed limit by a significant amount – by 20mph in most cases – could be given a six-point fine, twice the current penalty.

That would mean them hitting the 12-point trigger for an automatic ban if they repeat the offence within three years.

Oil recycling is 'green' success

A SCHEME to recycle used cooking oil collected at household waste recycling centres in Suffolk has been hailed a success.

Collection banks were installed in March this year at all 18 centres across Suffolk, including Haverhill, by Living Fuels, a local company based near Brandon.

The recycling takes advantage of a technological breakthrough achieved by Living Fuels in transferring unused energy from waste vegetable cooking oil into green, carbon-neutral electricity.

When the banks were emptied for the first time in October they yielded a total of 5,500 litres of used cooking oil delivered by members of the Pupils put chef skills to the test

■ TALENTED . . . Aaron Groom and Callum Fletcher Brown prepare for the catering competition next week.

TWO young chefs are hoping to slice and chop their way to becoming the next Jamie Oliver by taking part in a national competition.

Aaron Groom and Callum Fletcher Brown from Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill will be taking part in a national catering competition in Norwich next week. A total of 18 GCSE catering pupils from Year 10 entered the national FutureChef competition run by Springboard. FutureChef forms part of Springboard's high-profile national schools programme based on a four-staged nationwide competition designed to help young people aged 12-16 learn about food and how to cook. It provides a unique insight into the world of professional cookery by capturing imagination, recognising talent and providing a potential platform to launch a career in the industry. Supported by key industry partners and judged by some of the country's top chefs, last year's competition attracted a record 7,087 entrants from 583 schools throughout the UK. Aaron and Callum will have to prepare and cook a hot main course and hot/cold dessert for two people with a budget of £6. Springboard and the Craft Guild of Chefs will be sourcing judges for this event and it will include a well-respected chef in the Norwich area, who will then go on to mentor the winne throughout the rest of the competition. There will only be one winner in the local final and this person will go forward to the regional final in January/ February 2009, while the national finals will be judged by Brian Turner and will be held in March 2009.

Christmas Wishes

Stay fit over the festive season

CHRISTMAS coming, the goose is getting fat - and so will we if we're not careful about what we eat over the festive season.

Every year, millions of us are tempted to start gobbling down mince pies earlier and earlier as supermarkets start promotions and we build up to the big calorie-fest that is Christmas week.

The average Brit consumes a gut-busting 7,000 calories on Christmas Day alone, but it never ends there, does it?

Days after the presents have been unwrapped; a seemingly innocent meal of a turkey sandwich, a leftover mince pie and a glass of wine comes to a whopping 930 calories, which you'd have to walk 9.3 miles to burn off.

miles to burn off.
But it's not all doom and gloom – with some careful planning it is possible to have a low caloric Christmas, says nutritionist Carrie Ruxton.

"On average, people put on about three or four pounds over Christmas because it starts a lot earlier than it used to.
"It's important to think about what you're going to do over the festive period so you don't end up feeling miserable about it in January."

Follow Carrie's tips for a guilt-free Christmas:

■ MORE PROTEIN, LESS FAT On Christmas Day and Boxing Day, think about the plates of food that you have and go for more turkey and more vegetables and then minimise the sauces and high fat ingredients like Turkey is low in fat and very high in protein, which has been shown to make you feel full for longer, so you won't come back for more.

VARY YOUR VEGETABLES

Vegetables are low GI and high in fibre and will fill you up with fewer calories than fatty alternatives. But it's easy to get bored of vegetables and then you'll start having smaller portions. Roasted potatoes are really high in calories because they've been sitting in fat in the oven. Why not mash, bake or boil them for a healthier alternative?

■ CHOOSE HEALTHY STARTERS AND PUDDINGS

Go for soup because it's more filling than greasy volau-vents or sausages on sticks and for dessert, try something like meringue with fruit and natural yoghurt, which will be much lower calorie than the traditional pudding with custard and brandy butter. If you really have to have Christmas pudding, have a smaller portion than normal.

GO EASY ON THE

Watching your alcohol intake is important, because people sometimes forget the calories you get in a glass of wine or pint of beer. A large glass is 200 calories, so if you have five that's 1000 calories, or half a woman's daily requirement of energy.

■ EXERCISE

A good brisk walk after Christmas lunch instead of slumping on the sofa will with digestion and should burn off a few

Borough ranked 12th in quality of life study

ST EDMUNDSBURY has been placed 12th in a national list of the best places to live in the country.

The survey of 500 local authorities, conducted by the Halifax Building Society, assessed the areas on a range of topics such as property prices, wages, employment rates and property ownership.

Elmbridge, in Surrey, was judged to have the best quality of life in Great Britain, and 15 of the 30 local authorities with the best quality of life were in the south-east of England.

St Edmundsbury, along with south Norfolk, Babergh and Rochford, were found to offer the best value for money with a combination of relatively low property prices and a high quality of life.

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Figures for St Edmundsbury showed a gross weekly income of £514 and an 87.4 per cent employment rate.

More than 70 per cent of households were owner-occupiers, with an average of 5.7 rooms per household.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "We are delighted with, but not at all surprised, by these survey results as we have long said that St Edmundsbury is a wonderful place to

"The borough has so much to offer, including beautiful count ryside, charming villages and thriving towns as well as great people, good schools, an excellent environment, a healthy population and higher than average life expectancy.

'There is also a great sense of community among our residents, so it really isn't surpris-ing that it is an extremely popular place to live.

"There is, however, always room for improvement and our vision as a council is to work to improve the quality of life for everyone living in the borough. The results of this survey show we seem to be doing just that.

Martin Ellis, chief economist at Halifax, said: "South Norfolk, Babergh, Rochford and St Edmundsbury are four areas that have a high quality of life combined with lower than average house prices, therefore offering good value for money reassuring the public that child protection services are being maintained and improved, despite the credit

Children's services 'still robust'

Suffolk County Council's children and young people's services scrut-iny committee is to receive a report on how the council is managing the current budget while maintaining and imp roving front-line child protection work.

Cllr Jeremy Pem-

broke, leader of the county council, said: "Please let me reassure everyone in Suffolk our services to protect children are strong and effective. Vulnerable child-ren in Suffolk are well protected.

"Our children's services have a good recent track record and Suffolk remains one of the safest places to live and grow up.

"Government inspections confirm this. Indeed, this year we have invested £1 million extra in these services. We have employed 30 new social workers since June this year.

"There will always be children at risk in Suffolk, unfortunately that is the nature of our society. But I am very confident that our services are robust and effect-Rosalind Turner, director for children and young people, said: "We have increased funding and staff in fostering and adoption services.

"Our programme of children's centres is well under way with 35 centres now open across Suffolk, and 13 more to come.

"They are an important part of our efforts to support families. Like every other council in the UK we have had to make savings in our budgets, but we have protected front-line services that safeguard children who are at risk featuring 12 new tracks written by guitarist Luke Morley. Instead of holing up in a recording studio the group decided to lay down the songs on location at a stately home - Walton Castle near Bristol.

"Making the record in a castle rather than a studio was a bit of a weird experience," says the group's vocalist Danny Bowes. 'But we've never really had a problem with bucking the trend.

"We usually have a great time making our records, but this one was especially enjoyable, and it sounds great, all that history clearly comes through the mixes." He adds: "Luke did a fine job as ever with the tunes, and the band are OK, but my singing is clearly the best thing on the record!"

HAVERHILL WEEKLY NEWS

SEEING Honda's Tourer offering for the first time, I started having visions of hooking the boat on the back, loading it up with mountain bikes, and taking it up the ski field.

I'm not sure whether it's the lowered, sporty exterior or the roomy feel of the interior, but this car looks made for sport and sports equipment.

Funnily enough, the first thing I tried to do with it was load my road bike into the back – even with the front wheel off and the back seats down, the bike would only fit in one way. And given the bike fits in both ways in my three-door Ford Fiesta, I was rather surprised by its narrowness.

However, this still doesn't take away from its overall size.

The slick cabin is completely driver-focused, with the dash sweeping round like the inside of sweeping round like the inside of a cockpit. The emphasis is on comfort and you feel supported, with plenty of personal space.

You're immediately drawn to the navigation system that doubles as a video screen for the camera in the back that kicks in as soon as you put the car into reverse. Reversing by video was a little disconcerting for a start, but soon became one of the many features of the car you relied upon.

Driver controls on the steering wheel enable you to control many of the car's functions, including audio and cruise control, without taking your hands off the wheel.

Clever storage makes the car practical for everyday use. The large central console box has a USB (for your iPod, etc) and power output, and there're large door pockets for maps and drinks. Back seat passengers also don't miss out with their own drinks holders in the arm rests and equally large pockets in the doors.

The boot is enormous – and then you realise there's another level underneath for even more storage.

For a big car, the Honda is surprisingly agile. It corners like a much smaller car, and though sometimes at speed it felt as though I was battling with the steering, it was hugely responsive. And though it's powerful, it's quiet. Road and engine noise have been thoughtfully eliminated from the inside, adding to the comfort of the overall ride.

six-speed manual

■ HONDA ACCORD TOURER . . . The stylish estate is practical and fun to drive but it feels large around town transmission was light and Honda transmission was light and Honda has even gone as far as a shift indicator light, which appears in the centre of the rev counter. "Up" or "Down" graphics advise the driver of the best point to change gears to maximise fuel economy.

■ Basically I wouldn't recommend this car the narrow streets Cambridge – it's a bit of a mission to park and takes up the entire width of one park with no room on either side – but if you want a stylish, athletic car that can transport you, the team, and all your sports gear, the Tourer is a fantastic option. And you won't be last to arrive at the game.

Industry chiefs plea to axe VED increase plan

MOTOR industry chiefs this week pleaded with the Government to scrap planned increases in vehicle excise duty (VED). Already enduring drastically-

Already enduring drasticallyreduced new car sales, motoring bosses also called on ministers to scrap the so-called "showroom tax" which will see VED rise dramatically in the first year of ownership for those buying the most polluting vehicles.

The plea came in a letter to Chancellor of the Exchequer Alistair Darling and Business Secretary Lord Mandelson from the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) and the Retail Motor Industry Federation (RMIF).

The two organisations called for a number of initiatives designed to stimulate the UK vehicle market at a time when many car companies are cutting back production to meet a slowdown in demand.

Measures called for include:

Allowing manufacturers'

Allowing manufacturers' finance companies access to the funding available to banks through the special liquidity arrangements. This would allow them to support customers and their franchise networks their franchise networks

■ Shelve plans for reform of business car capital allowances, as overall impact and timing is unhelpful

Remove expensive car restrictions under capital allowances to help demand for UK higher end manufacturers

National arrangements to allow manufacturers and suppliers access to loan facilities, including potential government guarantees, to maintain liquidity and investment

■ Help to speed up the allocation of existing funding to support training. R&D projects and energy efficiency measures. This would help increase employees' skill levels, accelerate innovation and provide an immediate stimulus for green collar jobs.

SMMT chief executive Paul

SMMT chief executive Paul Everitt said: "The motor industry faces a set of unprecedented market conditions. The dramatic falls in demand for new vehicles in the UK, Europe and around the world, combined with the limited availability of funding and liquidity now puts at risk valuable industrial capability. "Urgent action is required to

"Urgent action is required to boost demand for new vehicles and ease pressure on UK automotive suppliers. The pre-Budget report (next Monday) should set out the strategy and measures needed to restore consumer confidence and support valuable industrial capability during this difficult period." RMIF chairman Paul Williams RMIF chairman Paul Williams said: "It is vital that the motor industry presents a united front at this time. These measures and others, jointly presented by the two industry trade associations, would go some way to helping the revival of consumer confidence in our sector.

"We urge the Chancellor to

if necessary."

The SMMT/RMIF appeal follows a meeting last week between the Unite union and Lord Mandelson in which Unite leaders called for a £13 billion loan to assist the whole of the manufacturing sector, including the motor industry.

Stop/start system for smart cars

SMART is set to clean up when it comes to environ-mental compatibility and driver enjoyment with the launch of a new model with micro hybrid drive (mhd) technology and enhanced equipment levels. From November, 60bhp and 70bhp versions of the smart fortwo will feature micro hybrid drive as standard, which is an automatic start/stop start function helping to provide significant savings in terms of both fuel economy and emissions.

The smart mhd models return fuel savings of up to 24 per cent and lower CO2 emissions to 103 g/km.

The mhd system operates during the engine idling phases.

The engine stops when it senses that the smart's speed drops below 5mph and the driver is braking.

When the driver releases the brake pedal the engine is instantly restarted.
The system can be switched off if the driver wants though.
The micro hybrid variant is available as a coupe and a cabrio

Improve your road safety this winter by fitting better tyres winter approaching, TyreSafe is advising motorists to consider fitting cold weather tyres in order to improve road safety and reduce the number of accidents on the road.

Despite the change in road conditions at the onset of winter, many drivers continue to drive on standard tyres Slippery roads accounted for 55 per cent of road traffic accidents in which road environment was a contributory factor in 2007, according to Department for Transport (DfT) figures.

In November 2007, the DfT recorded a spike in personal injury accidents as drivers were caught out by the drop in temperature and increased rainfall, with 16,559 accidents recorded, nearly 700 more accidents than at any other time in the year.

Fitting cold weather tyres can provide significant safety benefits for motorists, explains Rob Beddis, TyreSafe chairman. "They have many more delicate cuts in the tread which are designed to absorb snow, allowing the tyres to maintain their grip when driving over snow-covered roads.

■ SAFER... Cold weather tyres.

Cold weather tyres are specif-ically engineered to offer improved vehicle performance and reduce stopping distances in cold, wet conditions. They contain a higher quantity of natural rubber comp-ound.

which stops them from hardening as much in the cold.

Braking tests conducted by a leading tyre manufacturer and TyreSafe member revealed that at 5°C a vehicle fitted with cold weather tyres travelling at 62 mph stopped a full five metres earlier than the same vehicle with standard tyres. In parts of Europe, specific dates are defined by law for the changeover of standard to cold weather tyres. However, in the UK, where annual temperatures often range from -15°C to 30°C, usage of cold weather tyres is far less common, as legislation common, as legislation dictating changeover does not exist. Motorists interested in investigating cold weather tyres this winter are advised to visit their local garage or tyre dealer, where a trained technician will be able to fit cold weather tyres and give advice on the correct storage of standard tyres over the winter months.

YOUTH FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

Gunners off Gibbs' strike in to real flyer

Grampian Gunners U15 7 Histon Hornets U15 3

CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE DIVISION 15A

IT was a great opening for the Gunners as they raced into a three-goal lead within 15 minutes of the kick-off in a match that was played on a pitch with a light covering of snow.

The goalscorers were Tom Bailey, Jacob Brown and Luke Halls.

Their next score was a first goal for the club by Devon Guyon, who was put through by Luke Young.
The visitors then reduced the arrears, but Brown scored his second after good work by Guyon.

Histon then replied once

Grampian started the second half with a goal from Bailey, who finished Pryke's fine cross

Injuries to Palazon and Newton saw them both leave the fray and this seemed to unsettle the home side for a while during which time the visitors clawed back another goal.

The final goal for the Gunners came near the end when Rodway and Brown linked up for Halls to grab the seventh.

Histon Hornets U12 3 Withersfield Youth U12 2

CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE.

WITHERSFIELD took on league leaders Histon in a much-anticipated mabetween the two top teams. match

It was Withersfield who started well and, with their possession and shots on goal, they should have had the game won in the first half, but only had a single goal for their efforts.

The scorer was Mitchell Burr, who followed in a rebound from a missed penalty.

Withersfield defenders Josh Hughes and Oliver Fish put on a commanding performance in the trying conditions.

Unfortunately, Withersfield found themselves trailing 3-1 against the run of play until Ryan Harrow hammered in a goal from a corner to set up an exciting finish.

Withersfield bombarded the hosts' goal but could not find the elusive equaliser, with Histon holding on to come out 3-2 winners.

Saffron Walden Town U10 A 4 Grampian Gunners U10 A 3

CAMBS MINI LEAGUE LITO KO CUP SECOND ROUND

THIS entertaining match started slowly for the Gunners, who conceded on two minutes.

After this setback, the visitors matched Town blow for blow and could have levelled the score, but for missed opportunities through Robson, Thompson and Halls.

Walden could not add to their score, thanks to great defending from Farrow and Woodley, leaving them leading 1-0 at the break.

The second half started with Jones making a great save for Grampian, but Town tapped home to make it 2-0. Within minutes, Westley fired home for Gunners, but Walden went straight up the pitch to score again.

Westley scored again, only for the hosts to reply immediately to lead 4-2. With time running out, Gunners pushed hard and Town conceded an own goal to leave a frantic last five minutes, during which Grampian could not draw level in a superb cup tie.

vain for Wratting

CAMBS MINI LEAGUE DIVISION 11A

WRATTING paid the price for a sluggish start when the hosts scored a soft goal early in the game. The visitors responded well and were unlucky not to score when excellent wing play from Scott Bishop set up Charlie Ripp, who narrowly missed the target.

Liam Gibbs then went on a fine run, but his shot passed narrowly wide. Wratting started the second half at a greater pace and came close to equalising on a number of occasions, but, once again, they presented the hosts with a goal to go 2-0 down. Wratting do not give up and Ripp's corner was bundled in by Gibbs to make it 2-1.

The match was now in the balance as Charlie Ellam thumped an effort from 20 yards that agonisingly hit the underside of the bar and staved out.

Soon afterward, NST scored a good individual goal to finish the match as freezing, Grampian did their best to warm the hands of the visiting keeper, with Jack Ferguson, Josh Matthewson and Jason Moore all having early Jamie Lingard did, however, manage to beat him after receiving a square pass, which he hit first time from outside the penalty area into the bottom corner. Aztecs equalised with a free kick which evaded everyone and was bundled home under Grampian goalkeeper Lewis Knightly's outstretched hand. Just before half time. Grampian's man-of-the-match Bailey Cassidy had a shot saved, but Mitchell Forshaw pounced on the rebound to fire home and send his side in at the interval with a 2-1 lead.

The second half saw the determined Aztecs equalise almost immediately after the restart.

This fired Gunners into playing all-out attacking football.

With George Mustoe and Cassidy keeping it tight at the back, pretty much every Grampian player had shots saved, with Aaron Thorne coming the closest to breaking the deadlock.

Either side could have won it near the end with goal-line clearances from both defences, but it was honours even at the end of a superb match.

FOOTBALL: LATEST NEWS FROM HAMLET CROFT

Betts takes the Rovers' hot seat

HAVERHILL Rovers have appointed former reserves boss Peter Betts as their new manager.

Betts takes over from caretaker manager Neil Farlie and his first game in charge will be Saturday's home Ridgeons League, Premier Division match at Harwich & Parkeston.

Betts has just returned from the US, where he spent six months coaching youngsters at the New York Red Bulls, and Rovers chairman Steve Brown is confident he will be able to steer the club away from the relegation zone.

Work commitments ruled Farlie out of the running for the full-time position, but he remains at the club as a first-team coach.

Brown said: "Peter knows the club, because he's been here before and he knows how the club works, and knows the players and the local football scene. He deserves a chance. "He and Neil will work together.

Unfortunately Neil's work commitments meant he wasn't able to give the time he would expect to put into the job. We understand that

"Not everyone can give the time

that's needed, but Neil is staying on and will help Peter when he can."

Brown also said new players are expected, but the influx would be limited.

"Peter has got his own ideas about the players he wants, and hopefully he will bring some in. But we're not going to make the mistake we made last year and have a mass of players in.

"We want to give our young home-grown players a chance. They've done reasonably well and are staying with the club.

"It's a difficult learning curve for them stepping up from the reserve league to the premier division, and it takes time to adjust."

Brown said he was delighted to now have a full-time manager and hopes to see the team start climbing the league.

"Peter will bring in his ideas and hopefully help us get to where we want to be," he said

Rovers are also in league action on Tuesday evening when they travel to Mildenhall

■ ON TARGET . . . Ben Cowling, scorer of Rovers' opening goal at Felixstowe. This weekend Haverhill will have a new manager in charge.

SWIMMING

Proud Tom called up to lead country

TOM Cole, 19, travelled to Portugal on Monday as boys' captain of the British team competing in the World Downs

Swimming Championships.
The West Suffolk teenager, who began his swimming career with lessons at Haverhill Leisure Centre, will be racing in the 400m, 200m and 100m individual the 400m, 200m and 100m individual medley, 200m breaststroke, 100m butterfly and 50m butterfly and relay events at the championships, which are continuing all this week.

It is the third time that Cole has represented his country. He trains at Bury St Edmunds Leisure Centre, run by Abbeycroft Leisure, Lessure Centre, full by Abbeycholt Lessure, who are his sponsors.

He is a member of West Suffolk SC and is coached by Pat Jason, who said:

"Tom deserves to do well as he has put a tremendous amount of hard work into his training over the last two years, and I wish him every success."

Cole trains for nearly 10 hours per week in the pool and for two hours in the gym. His mother, Barbara, said she was very grateful to Abbeycroft for their sponsorship, as it had made a big difference to enable Tom to train regularly.

She also thanked Pat Jason for her dedicated coaching, which had resulted in her son's success with leveller Westcott

MARTIN Westcott scored the equaliser and nearly netted a winner as Rovers twice came from behind to grab a point on their trip to the Suffolk Coast on Saturday.

Buoyed up by their victory over fellow strugglers Woodbridge the previous week, Haverhill went in search of more points in their quest to climb off the foot of the table.

Things did not start well as they fell behind after 14 minutes

RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

when Felixstowe's Andrew Claydon beat keeper Liam Cutts with a header from close range.

However, Rovers battled back, with Ryan Kent's half-volley from 25 yards just missing the target.

Ben Cowling had Haverhill back on level terms after 27 minutes when he nodded home Jamie Challis' inch-perfect chip after Harry Halls' corner was only partially cleared. But the home side were ahead

2-1 at half time when a fierce drive by Tommy Childs was too good for Cutts at his near post

Haverhill came out firing after the break Westcott's shot on the turn from 20 vards was saved low down by the Felixstowe keeper Ben Nower.

A Gareth Thomas cross then bounced agonisingly over Westcott's head when he was unmarked just three yards out Westcott finally equalised on 50 minutes, poking home after Neil Hammond's header from Challis corner was parried by Nower. Westcott almost claimed all three points for Rovers when he did well to win the ball on the left and floated a shot on to the crossbar with Nower beaten.

Haverhill ended on the attack, with Challis' chip from 35 yards passing just over the bar.
